Boat Basin Owner Injured in Mishap On Creek July 24

An Eddyville boat basin owner suffered injuries to his head and left hand early Wednesday evening when his racing outboard capsized on the Rondout Creek, it was learned today.

Bruce Miller told The Freeman that his father, Harvey O. Miller, 50, of Richmond Parkway, severed his left thumb at the knuckle and suffered a head injury which required eight stitches.

He said his father was treated at Kingston Hospital "and is feeling fine today."

Young Miller gave the following account of the accident:

His father, owner of the Lazy Bones Boat Basin and an outboard racing enthusiast for many years in this area, was tuning up a racing outboard Wednesday evening about 7 p. m.

Miller was traveling downstream from the Eddyville Bridge, about 500 feet out in the creek, from his dock, at 70 MPH.

Air pressure lifted the boat, which weighs about 210 pounds, "and it took off like a Piper Cub."

The boat did "one and a half flips" and at the start of the second flip Miller's head went through the deck, his left hand slipped on a sharp steel edge of the throttle and severed his left thumb at the knuckle.

Miller was thrown into the water "and the boat came down on top of him."

Wearing a lifejacket, Miller was picked up by three youngsters in another boat who witnessed the mishap. He was brought to shore and taken to Kingston Hospital where he was treated.

Sneak Thief Still At Large After Rifling of 3 Safes

Ellenville police are still without a clue to the identity of the thief who rifled the safes in three village stores last Saturday.

Taken from Eddie's Country Store was a tin cash box containing $53 in cash. Edward Kleinman, proprietor, told police he recalled a young man asking if there was a men's room on the premises Saturday but he did not discover the loss until Sunday. The money was reportedly in an unlocked safe in the store.

Checks Thrown Away

From the Reliable Market a bank deposit bag containing $778 in checks and cash was reported missing. The checks were later found in an alley between Miller's Electric Service and Glusker-Emkay Sales on Monday. The cash $91 was missing. Morris Weinger also lost $150 cash.

H. Weinstein's store was missing an envelope containing $350 in cash. Harry Weinstein told police he observed a man about 35 or 36 wandering about the store on three separate occasions Saturday. One of the clerks in the store reported he had seen a young man come out of the office and inquired if he could be of assistance. The man replied he had been in the office to use the telephone and calmly walked out. Three checks taken from the office were later found on a shelf in the store.

Picks Busy Time

The thief apparently picked a busy time of the day to walk into the office of each store, open the unlocked safes and make off. No fingerprints have been found.

Oil Shortage Eased

Jordan's acute oil shortage has been eased, informed sources there said today.

The first oil from the port of Aqaba has reached Amman, Jordan's capital, in 140 big tank trucks which brought it from the British-owned tanker Clyde Explorer.

An American-owned tanker is coming to Aqaba with an additional shipment and the operation is set to proceed smoothly henceforth. The oil presumably is coming from the Persian Gulf.

The U. S. Embassy announced the end of an emergency airlift in which huge C130s have been bringing oil during the night hours on a crash basis. The embassy said the airlift is no longer necessary.

Vital to West

Jordan had been dependent upon Iraq for its oil and the revolt in Iraq July 14 ended that source of supply.

Breaking the back of the oil shortage is particularly important to western sections of Palestine, where the shortage raised the possibility of political repercussions.

All was quiet with the U. S. Marines in Lebanon Thursday night, a Marine spokesman reported. On previous nights U. S. troops have been harassed by rebel snipers.

Khrushchev in Weapon Boast

In Cairo, an Egyptian editor who accompanied President Nasar on his secret flight to Moscow quoted Soviet Premier Khrushchev as declaring: "We Russians have weapons which could easily turn the U. S. 6th Fleet into coffins of melted steel for its sailors."

The article by Mohammed Heikal in his newspaper Al Ahram also said Khrushchev called the 6th Fleet commander, Vice Adm. Charles R. Brown "an exceedingly stupid and foolish admiral" and asserted, "If the god (secretary of state) Dulles claims to believe in reality exists, I would be closer to him than Dulles, who claims he is his priest."

Dean J. F. McMahon, of the College of Ceramics, announced the transfer, and said Martin Curran has been appointed director of the brick research project. He has just completed work for his master's degree in ceramic engineering at the university.

Edwin T. Boyle, secretary of the Lansell Corporation of Hackensack, N. J., former comptroller of the company, will apparently fight any attempt to bring him to Ulster County to appear before the special "kickback" grand jury which will resume sessions next week.

Walter Winne, attorney for the Lansell company, announced the attempt to bring Boyle here under a reciprocal witness agreement between New York and New Jersey would be carried to the courts. Winne is expected to attack the constitutionality of the agreement.

He claims a similar agreement has been nullified by the courts in a Florida case and the matter is now before the United States Supreme Court.

Judge "Unavailable"

Assistant Attorney General

Leonard E. Reisman, chief assistant in the Ulster County investigation, was in New Jersey on Thursday where he discussed an order signed Wednesday by Supreme Court Justice Henry Clay Greenberg which calls on County Judge Galanti of Bergen County, N. J., to issue an order for Boyle's appearance before the special investigation grand jury here on Thursday, July 31.

Judge Galanti was "unavailable" Thursday and Assistant Attorney General Reisman will appear Tuesday, July 29, before County Judge Galanti and request the necessary papers be signed to compel Boyle's appearance here.

Resistance Expected

At that time Judge Galanti

may issue an order requiring Boyle to show cause why he should not comply with Justice Greenberg's order. He may also direct Boyle's appearance here. It is expected, in view of Winne's statement, that Boyle will resist.

At the conference yesterday

First Assistant County Prosecutor of Bergen County, Fred Galda, reviewed the forms and order of Justice Greenberg.

In view of the unavailability of Judge Galanti, arrangements were made for Assistant Attorney General Reisman to appear next Tuesday for signature of the required papers by Judge Galanti.

Want Him to Explain

Boyle is sought to appear before the special grand jury as a "necessary and material witness" to explain certain evidence in the office of Special Attorney General Bernard Tompkins, in charge of the Ulster County "kickback" investigation, which Senator Tompkins alleges in an affidavit which would be awarded on seniority unless the union thinks the senior man could not do the job.

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON
FACTS, NOT TALK

Back in 1840, corn was planted and harvested with hand tools. It took a farmer about 276 hours to produce 100 bushels. That is almost 3 hours to the bushel.

Then came inventions, the "know-how." So, today, corn planting and harvesting are done by tractors and other modern implements. Farmers are producing 100 bushels of corn with less than 8 hours' work. That is less than 5 minutes per bushel. Something similar is true of everything our farmers produce.

Prior to mechanization, the farmer's tools and "know-how" had scarcely changed during thousands of years. What we know as the agricultural revolution, has transformed the lives and living conditions of practically every one, whether in town or country. Once the farmer was freed of the necessity of spending most of his time producing enough food and fiber for himself and his family, industry entered an era of enormous expansion.

A new civilization was ushered in—cotton gins, steam engines, steamboats, railroads, automobiles, tractors, bulldozers, etc. This could not have happened if millions of farm boys had not been released to go into industry and commerce.

Today, only about 15% of our people are on the farm. In Russia, it is about 50%. It is said that Michigan has more first-rate mechanics than all of Russia with 30 million more people than the U. S. A.

Russian boasts are one thing. American performance is another.

Billows Beats Lersch

UTICA, N. Y. (AP)—Ray Billows, who is seeking his eighth championship, defeated R. A. Lersch of White Plains, 4 and 2, today in the third round of the state men's amateur golf tournament.

Billows was six holes up at the turn in the morning round but lost the 11th, 14th and 15th as Lersch rallied.

However, the Poughkeepsie swinger ended the match on the 16th with a par.

Syracuse John Ward advanced to this afternoon's fourth round with a 5 and 4 triumph over Joe Purcell of Hamburg. Another Syracuse golfer, John Florczyk, defeated Pierce H. Russell of Troy, 3 and 1, in another third-round duel.

CONCERNED OVER PEWS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Everybody concerned is appealing the case of the nonunion church pews. The five-man National Labor Relations Board itself must decide whether an examiner's findings were just right, too hard or too soft.

Backyard Chefs: Don't Scorch Shade Trees

Be kind to your shade trees when you have backyard cookouts this summer.

If the outdoor grill is portable or a permanent one, keep it away from beneath a tree. Heat may scorch the lower branches and cause them to die, warns George M. Codding of the Bartlett Tree Experts.

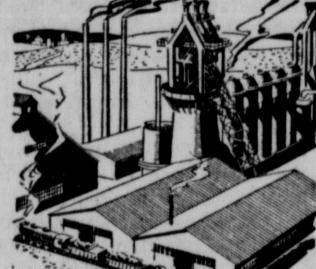

Also avoid excessive tramping beneath a tree, all the way out to the edge of the branch spread. When soils become packed, rainwater runs off and suffocation begins. Tree roots must breathe. And the air they need comes through loose friable soils.

That Vacation Dollar Can

Be Stretched Many Ways

By FAYE HENLE

Vacation-bound, U.S.A.? Note this: it's a buyers' market.

The various media of transportation are fighting for your travel dollar. So are the resorts. Remember hotels have all the new models to contend with. And the motel circa '58 is a Hollywood-like abode complete with swimming pool.

Decide first what it is you want out of your vacation dollar. Is it fun, relaxation, romance?

Look at your vacation thus: it is an investment, an investment that will improve your working tempo for the next 50 weeks. It could also be an investment in personal contacts. It should be an investment in health.

Choose this investment—like all others—with care. Give consideration to the return you will get from the price you pay.

Don't feel that travel by car, even for a family of four—is necessarily cheapest, though some 90 per cent of summer travel is done by automobile. In some cases driving might be more expensive. Check family plan rail and plane fares though they might be in effect only midweek.

Rails offer slumber coaches, planes economy fares, a fairly recent development in air travel. Bear in mind, on economy air fares that if you are a six footer this might not be as comfortable as a regular flight.

Remember, it is half fare for children under 12 years on all carriers, a free trip for those under 5 on railroads and buses, free for those under 2 on planes.

In some cities, hotels offer gratis

Two Questions Hover Over Doria: Can It Be Salvaged? Who's to Blame for Crash?

By FRANCIS STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — After two years, two major questions still hover above the sunken hulk of the Italian luxury liner Andrea Doria, and the Swedish-American line received a million for repairs to the smashed bow of the Stockholm.

One of them is: Who is to blame for the fearful collision with the Swedish motorship Stockholm off the coast of Massachusetts two years ago tonight? Months of court hearings failed to settle the issue. It probably never will be.

The second question may or may not be answered in the years to come: Can the Andrea Doria be salvaged or resurrected from the depths of the Atlantic?

6 Million Claims

Meanwhile, one major task made necessary by the crash is all but ended. For more than a year attorneys for insurance companies have been busy settling death, injury and cargo claims. Claimants will receive a total of about six million dollars. They originally asked about 116 million.

boosting the death total to 52. Hundreds of lawsuits were filed in the wake of the collision. In due course they were consolidated into a single case, but after months of hearings efforts to fix the responsibility were dropped.

These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
 JOE McCARTHY'S GHOST

The magazine business must be suffering from the recession or something because here comes a magazine which advertises "A Revealing, Explosive Document. Sen. Joe McCarthy—The Truth Behind His Sensational Rise—His Mysterious Death." Two items down in the table of contents, I find another piece entitled, "The Smell of Love—You'll find B.O. can be fun." The latter article was written by a couple of doctors; the former by a usual magazine writer.

I read the McCarthy article and do not find anything new in it except the impressionistic drawing of Joe's head which makes him look like a murderer on the scaffold. That must be the sensation. As Joe only lived one life and the whole of it has been fairly well explored, it is doubtful whether much that is new can be added to it. Joe had his day and his vogue and has passed away and each year those who still regard themselves as his friends attend a Mass for his soul. Such a Mass is held in several cities and is well attended, but will naturally be decreasing as the years pass.

I knew Joe McCarthy intimately from the start of his anti-Communist career. He became interested in the subject of Communist infiltration in government and he devoted himself to the subject. One may have liked or disliked McCarthy; liked or disliked his methods; liked or disliked his associates, but it is impossible to ignore the historic consequences of Communist infiltrations into governments throughout the world. This Joe did not invent.

We are facing just this problem in Syria, and in Iraq where Communists in the palace (or call them Leftists, if you will) assassinated the King of Iraq.

The writer of the magazine article asserts that McCarthy's start in this field "was largely accidental." He does not know this to be true because he had no personal relationship to the Senator at that or any other time. Furthermore, if he knew anything about the anti-Communist movement in the United States, he would know that little about it, good or bad, was accidental. As much planning and thinking went into one side as into the other and each side was infiltrated by the other.

The anti-Communists in the 1950's were an austere, devoted group of men and women who made enormous personal sacrifices for what they believed to be a cause. There were among them some crooks, fakers and scoundrels, as there are in every movement, but the hard core of leadership was a sincere group, most of them former Communists, some always anti-Communist who were ready to die for their cause.

That they were fanatical, there can be no question. Just as the Communists were engaged in a conspiracy, so the anti-Communists were always suspicious of others and each other because so often they found themselves either betrayed or deserted.

Joe McCarthy was deliberately brought into this movement because it was recognized that he would fight to a finish. Other Senators started but lost interest as other problems obtruded them selves. Dick Nixon, at one stage, looked like Lochinvar but it was found early in his career that while he was a man of sincerity, he was also an ambitious politician and tended to compromise. McCarthy was uncompromising and fanatical.

The author of this magazine article that resurrects McCarthy's ghost implied that Joe did not drink himself to death. To say that Joe did not drink would be to deny that he was Irish. To say that Joe drank himself to death is untrue. He was discouraged. He regarded himself as betrayed. He particularly felt that he was betrayed by Vice President Nixon whom he had always trusted. He talked about going into business and getting out of politics. He was absorbed in his family life.

He also suffered extraordinary pain because of his herniated diaphragm. Once I gave a little dinner for McCarthy. His pains came on. His suffering was unbelievable and that night he had to be taken to the hospital. It was his herniated diaphragm and he was operated for it.

Joe McCarthy is dead and can neither add to nor detract from the course of events. Whether resurrecting his ghost makes circulation, I doubt very much. An article on what makes Zsa Zsa tick, might be better business.

Parkinson's Disease Is a Long-Lived Nervous Disorder

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
 Written for NEA Service

Mrs. P. has asked recently for a discussion of Parkinson's disease, a subject of great importance to many people.

This is a curious condition often also called paralysis agitans, or shaking palsy.

Generally it begins slowly, usually in one hand. The shaking which may not be present constantly, is more conspicuous when at rest. Some stiffness and loss of muscular strength may be noticed at the same time.

Muscular movements are slowed and appear more difficult than normal. The walk is "shuffling" and quite characteristic.

Some other symptoms, especially a tendency to lack of expressiveness in the face, may be present.

Sometimes severe anxiety or mental or physical shock seems to bring on the symptoms. Similar symptoms may come from infections, especially what is called epidemic encephalitis. This is a virus infection of the brain, sometimes called American sleeping sickness.

Parkinson's disease is a nervous condition, because it comes from damage to a certain portion of the brain not connected with the thinking processes.

Probably the most common form is that which develops in older people—men more often than women—as a result of some obscure process which may be connected with hardening of the arteries or some other unknown cause.

The shaking may improve from time to time. The disease develops slowly and tends to last for a great many years. There is no pain and the mental condition is usually normal, although after the disease has existed for many years mental ability may be somewhat slowed.

Those suffering from this condition should be particularly careful to avoid fatigue. Strenuous activity or entertainment should be avoided, but a fairly active life with some work is generally desirable.

There are several drugs which are often helpful in controlling the tremors, though complete cure cannot be expected.

Cold water treatments, special exercises, sun baths, massage and vitamin preparations have all been tried without much success.

In recent years a number of surgical procedures have been tried for Parkinson's disease. Some of them appear promising for properly selected patients and everyone hopes that surgical, as well as other treatment methods, will become more and more successful.

A unified air traffic control agency, though it cannot be expected to work miracles, would be the most promising step yet taken toward catching up with demands of the jet air age. The House should promptly follow the Senate's bipartisan lead. The sooner the agency becomes operative, the better.

FOUNDATION'S NEW PROGRAM

The Ulster County Chapter of the National Foundation has endorsed the new program of the National Foundation for a broadside attack against major disease problems based on an entirely new concept of a voluntary organization as a flexible force in the field of health. Heretofore, most big national health organizations have concentrated their efforts on single diseases. This has proved to be a sound approach, as no organization knows better than "The Polio Foundation," which in 20 years produced a preventive for paralytic polio.

But, in defeating polio, the National Foundation has done far more than solve this one problem. For medical research is an interlocking and overlapping proposition. In solving one problem, much basic research must be done and what is learned is useful in attacking a host of other problems, other ailments. Thus the National Foundation's virus research made history not only by development of the Salk vaccine, but by illuminating the world of viruses in general—today's most challenging area for medical discovery.

It is perfectly logical step for the organization to move ahead from polio, a virus disease of the central nerve system, to other virus diseases and central nervous system disorders as well as unsolved health problems like arthritis and congenital malformations, which cause serious crippling.

Keeping intelligent pace with the times, today's public is ready with potential understanding of the National Foundation's new goals. People are more research-minded, more health-minded than ever before. We believe they will applaud this broader battle against disease and disability by supporting a bigger March of Dimes next January.

CIVIL DEFENSE EFFORTS

The tireless efforts of the County and City Civil Defense directors and volunteers to acquaint the people with the necessity for knowing what to do and how to do it in the case of an attack emergency or during natural disasters is not fully appreciated. It is time that we paid more attention to Civil Defense.

The New York State Civil Defense Commission announces that the organization is prepared to give assistance in the event of natural disasters such as hurricanes, severe storms and disastrous flooding rains which in the past have occurred during the months of August, September and October. The commission also lists precautionary measures for householders and small craft owners.

A public aware of the dangers to be expected in time of emergency or natural disasters can reduce toll of life and property. The state director explains that this would be accomplished by taking advance safety precautions in and around homes. He said that each householder can do many things when they receive warnings to protect life and property.

A further suggestion is to read carefully in your local paper information released by the local Civil Defense and also news of weather such as storm warnings.

UNIFIED AIR CONTROL

Only a short time ago, in the long view of history, the vast ocean of air above the United States provided almost unlimited space for the maneuvers of our few little aircraft. The ocean of air is just as big now as it was then, but planes have increased so rapidly in both number and speed that flight space has been reduced to the point of making collision an ever-present danger.

This is the central fact behind Senate passage of a measure to create a single powerful agency to exercise traffic control aloft. The series of collisions that aroused public opinion and stimulated quick legislative action was an outward manifestation of that central fact.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A slow burn of criticism on U. S. policies in the Middle East is developing here.

Joe McCarthy was deliberately brought into this movement because it was recognized that he would fight to a finish. Other Senators started but lost interest as other problems obtruded them selves. for doing the same thing in a completely ruthless manner, in any part of the Communist world where trouble may develop or for them in the future.

THE FAR GREATER danger, of course, is that American and British troop movements into Lebanon and Jordan will bring similar movements of Communists "volunteers" into countries like Syria and Iraq.

Soviet Russia gambled that the U. S. would not come to the aid of South Korea—and lost. The odds are considered no better that an American gamble against Russian intervention in the Middle East will pay off.

N. Y. Summit Talk Seen As Opportunity for West

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — It's better to be talking than fighting. Nor does America have any good reason to fear a battle of words. So, the more "summit" conferences the better. For the United States will thereby have an unexampled opportunity to tell the whole world just why international peace is threatened, not merely in the Middle East but everywhere else.

The widespread idea that a "summit" conference really means a serious "negotiation" is fallacious. The machinery of informal and private negotiation through diplomatic channels has long been available but has lain dormant because the Soviets don't want to negotiate. They are confident that they can win by threats and propaganda maneuvers.

A great opportunity lies ahead to do a constructive job of explaining to the whole world just what is threatening peace. The principle applies not only to the Middle East but to the Far East and Africa, to Latin America and to eastern as well as western Europe. The charter spells it out:

"All members shall refrain in their international relations from the threat or use of force against the territorial integrity or political independence of any state, or in any other manner inconsistent with the purposes of the United Nations."

Nikita Khrushchev can make all the grandstand plays he wishes, but he cannot by ostentatious gestures or honeyed words erase from the minds of the people of the world his record of murder and assassination inside the Soviet Union and inside the neighboring captive states.

To confine the security council discussions to the problems of the Middle East would be to deal with a manifest symptom rather than the disease itself—totalitarianism on the march.

The United Nations was designed as a public forum, nobody was ever supposed to dictate what its security council might or might not discuss. That was stipulated in writing to be the function of the members themselves. So, when the Soviet dictator says he wants only certain aspects of the Middle East problem discussed, he is taking it upon himself to write the rules of the council. Likewise, when he suggests who should or should not be invited to sit down with him in the security council, he is arrogating to himself a right never bestowed upon him or any other head of a state by the UN charter.

Spelled Out in Charter

If the Soviet dictator doesn't want to abide by the rules of the Security Council, it will be evidence of duplicity—saying he

Double Standard Is Still Loaded Against the Women

How does it happen? . . . That when a woman with a house to run, a husband to keep happy and children to bring up, is lucky enough to have a maid to help her, it is assumed that she doesn't have anything to do?

No one claims that an executive leads a life of ease just because he has a secretary to do some of his routine jobs for him. That now when women are outliving men, the women are blamed for not taking better care of their husbands? Back in the old days when men often outlived two or three wives, nobody pointed an accusing finger at the men for overworking their womenfolk.

That when a widower marries in a hurry everyone is glad that the poor man has someone to look after him? When a woman who has been a widow less than a year starts casting her eyes about for a second mate, people aren't so charitable.

That when everyone assumes that the man who isn't married by the time he is 40 simply prefers bachelorhood? But people assume that the woman who is still single at 40 isn't married because she never had the chance.

Engineer Says TV Will Show Moon's Other Side Soon

By RALPH DIGHTON

DOWNEY, Calif. (AP)—One of these nights you'll be watching TV for a glimpse of something you never thought you'd see—the other side of the moon.

One of the "lunar probe" rockets now being built will go out to the moon, circle it and come back, scanning its surface with a television camera all the while.

To Be on Tape

The signals from this lunar scanner will be picked up by a giant antenna on earth and put on tape. A few days later, after study by the appropriate authorities, the tape will be released for public viewing.

This is the prediction of Dr. Donald B. Duncan, head of advanced engineering at the Auto-netics Division of North American Aviation.

Duncan, an expert on space navigation, won't say just when this magic night on television will come—but it may be sooner than you think."

To Give Answers

"The first swing around the moon," says Duncan, "may be 100 miles or so above its surface. But even at that distance man will be able to find answers to many of the questions he has asked for centuries: Is there any form of life at all on the moon? Is the far side of the moon, which is always turned away from earth, any different from the side we see almost every night? Would the moon be a feasible space station on our way to the stars?"

Later trips, says Duncan, will take the TV camera much closer to the moon's surface. Man eventually will set foot on the moon and the TV tape of that juncture, he believes, will record the beginning of a new era for man.

Two Ways, He Says

Just how will science do this—make it possible for armchair astronauts to circle the moon, even to "visit" other planets?

"There are at least two ways," Duncan says, "both possible with the instrumentation we already have."

"First, we could record what the TV camera sees on tape and then recover the tape when the space vehicle returns to earth."

"The second, and probably most practical way, would be to transmit live TV impulses in code to a large antenna on earth, then unscramble the code and record the resultant picture on tape."

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst NEW YORK (AP)—The chances are good today that come New Year's there'll be another legal shrinkage of your take-home pay. Congress is talking of increasing social security taxes then. The social security fund is running in the red, although it has sizable reserves to fall back on—carried as U. S. Treasury securities, not as cash.

The present maximum deduction from a paycheck is $94.50 a year. The proposed maximum after New Year's would be $120. But there would be some increase for every employee at whatever wage scale.

And for business there would be an increase in operating expenses since the amount the employer pays into the kitty would rise at the same time and in the same amount.

Two Factors Cited

The proposal is based on two factors:

1. Currently the amount workers are paying into the social security fund is running behind the sums being paid out to the increasing number of the retired, making for embarrassing red ink bookkeeping.

2. Congress is talking of increasing the amount of old age and disability payments, as it has in each election year since 1952. It is reacting to the impact of inflation on those with fixed incomes.

For many years the social security fund was increasing. But as new types of beneficiaries were added and the life expectancy of all increased, the outgoing payments finally outstripped the income tax receipts.

At the present tax rate schedule—set to increase gradually until 1975 when it would hit a permanent rate of 4 1/2 per cent—the fund would be in the red until 1965.

Set Up for 1960

The next step up from the present rate of 2 1/2 to 2 1/2 per cent was set for 1960. Congress now proposes to move this up to Jan. 1, 1959, hike the taxable wage base from $4,200 to $4,800, and move the date of the 4 1/2 per cent permanent rate up to 1969.

The fund's holdings of Treasury bonds had reached about 22 billion dollars when payments overtook receipts.

Those fearing that the increasing number of persons getting old age benefits—now more than 11 million—will drain the reserves have always been reassured that Congress will increase the tax as needed to prevent this.

Reason for Squeeze

Widening the base of the insured by taking in new elements of the population has put the current acute squeeze on the fund. But the long term rise in life expectancy has done even more.

In 1950 there were about 12 million persons in the United States 65 or over. The number has gone up steadily and the 1960 census is expected to count almost 16 million in that group.

Acquires Lake, Land

BEAR MOUNTAIN, N. Y. (AP)—The Palisades Interstate Park Commission has acquired Rockland Lake and 225 acres of surrounding land.

The commission took title yesterday when Rockland Lake Gardens, a resort corporation, accepted $700,000 for the property.

The 260-acre lake, about 30 miles from New York City, is the largest natural lake in Rockland County.

Rockland Lake Gardens will be permitted to continue operation of its bathing, bungalow and rooming house business until the end of this summer. The park commission will improve the bathing and picnic facilities during the winter and will open the renovated play area next Memorial Day.

The land taken over by the commission is adjacent to Hook Mountain State Park and extends to the east side of highway Route 9W in Congers.

A. K. Morgan, general manager of the commission, said taxes would be paid to the Town of Clarkstown.

Designate Aug. 3 Governor's Day At Orange Fair

Sunday, August 3 has been designated "Governor's Day" for the Orange County Fair at Middletown, it was announced today by Michael A. Gurd, counsel and chairman of special events.

Governor Harriman will arrive at approximately 1:45 p.m., and will be greeted by the fair officials and other civic leaders at the intersection of Routes 17 and 84. He will be escorted by Gurd and his committee to the fairgrounds where he will spend the afternoon visiting the various exhibits. He will address the grandstand audience briefly.

Governor Harriman is one of the stockholders of the Orange County Agricultural Society, sponsors of the fair. As a boy, he did some harness racing at the Orange County Fair Track. The Governor has visited the fair during the last two years and Governor's Day has now become an annual event.

Broome County Has Democratic Surrogate

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Harriman today appointed Democrat John Harbachuk of Windsor to succeed Republican Roy M. Page as Broome County surrogate.

Page, 66, resigned Thursday because of ill health. The post pays $15,000 a year.

Harbachuk, 42, may serve on the Democratic governor's appointment until Jan. 1. Voters in the normally Republican county will elect a surrogate for a full, six-year term in November.

Harbachuk was the Democratic county organization's endorsement to run for the office.

Meyer Levins "Compulsion" Next At Woodstock Playhouse

Wayne Maxwell and Anthony Holland will have the roles of the two teen-age murderers of the Jazz Age in "Compulsion," the Broadway stage hit dramatizing the 1924 Leopold-Loeb case, which will be the next attraction at the Woodstock Playhouse, beginning Tuesday, July 29.

Maxwell, who starred as Barnaby Tucker in "The Matchmaker" will play Artie Straus, the volatile, domineering partner of the ill-starred team who murdered a 14-year-old neighborhood boy for thrills, while Holland will play Judd Steiner, his sensitive, weak, brooding, colleague-in-crime.

"Compulsion" is the shock-after-shock dramatization of the homicide that shook the wealthy Hyde Park, and stunned the entire world. It tells the story of intellectual prodigies, born into wealthy families, who idly set themselves a game of committing a perfect crime.

The Big Controversy

When Meyer Levins' novel first appeared the controversy about the case had raged over the world was revived with unabated fury. Had justice prevailed? And when Levin prepared a play script of the now best-seller book, a new and bitter quarrel ensued.

It seemed that the Broadway backers wanted some changes in the script to satisfy the proposed stars and the boxoffice appeal. Levin was persuaded to permit another playwright to make them but when they were made Levin denounced them. A lawsuit followed and since then the two versions have been the subject of strife and debate.

Next week you will see the Meyer Levin version as a relatively faithful account of the aftermath of the murder.

Illinois Man Is To Head Finance Division of GOP

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republi- can National Chairman Meade Alcorn announced the appointment today of Spencer T. Olin of Alton, Ill., as chairman of the GOP National Finance Committee.

Olin, 57, a prominent Midwest industrialist and veteran Republican fund raiser, succeeds Charles S. Thomas, who resigned this month to become president of Trans World Airlines.

Among several other business positions, Olin is director of Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. and a member of its executive committee.

He is a founder of Illinois' United Republican Fund and in 1954 served as national finance chairman of the National Citizens for Eisenhower Congressional Committee.

Bow, Arrow Return

BEIRUT (AP) — A weapon of bygone wars—the bow and arrow—has come back into use in the Lebanese rebellion. But now it has a modern warhead.

The rebels are shooting cone-shaped dynamite charges into government positions with ordinary bows.

Jon Hall Proves Actors Must Get Out and Hustle

By BOB THOMAS

AP Motion Picture Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Nowadays, an actor can't sit around and wait for his agent to call. He's got to get out and hustle for himself."

This is the credo of robust Jon Hall, and it is producing results. For instance:

1. Tahitian-reared Hall has long been a fan of island music. Finding some inspired combos in Hawaiian night spots, he moved his own equipment in and made hi-fi and stereophonic recordings. He brought them back to the States and sold the layout to Mercury Records, which will soon bring out "Hi-Fi in Hawaii."

2. A veteran of making movies in, under and above the water ("The Hurricane," "South of Pago Pago," "Aloma of the South Seas," etc.), has long recognized the difficulty of filming underwater. The submerged cameras were bulky, required two or three men to handle, could film only a limited time.

So Jon went to work with associates and produced the Samson-Hall underwater camera, a lightweight affair that one man can easily adjust and operate. It will shoot four minutes of film and is quickly reloaded.

He will exhibit the camera at an engineering convention here and reports that camera makers, the Navy and film producers are interested in it.

3. Having prospered with the amazingly successful "Ramar of the Jungle" television series, Jon is devising another one, "The Seven Seas." This one will get him out of the jungle and into the briny. He has already shot thou-

4. And when he can get a respite from all these activities, Jon will start developing his Makana Village, a resort hotel he plans to build on Maui Island in Hawaii. He has the plans all ready to go.

Dutchess Man Is Named to Chiefs Of Police Board

NEW YORK (AP)—Police Chief Hamilton C. Conners of East Rochester is the new president of the New York State Assn. of Chiefs of Police.

He was elected with other officers Thursday at the concluding session of the association's annual convention.

Others elected included: Raymond R. Ninessing of Kings Point, first vice president; Earl S. Switzer of Lancaster, second vice president; Earl Hawk of Yorktown Heights, third vice president; R. S. Morris of Syracuse was reelected executive secretary.

Peter Elar of Freeport, Otto Anrig of Southold and William A. Sullivan of White Plains were named to the board of governors for three-year terms. John L. Martin of Poughkeepsie was named to the board for a one-year term.

Paul Yarick of Mamaroneck, the retiring president, was given a post in the law and parliamentary department.

Rochester was chosen as the next convention city.

Mildews, Fungi
May Be Cut Down
By Tree-Thinning

Rainy, cool weather is responsible for the abundance of mildews and other fungi—as well as mosses—this summer.

Fungi thrive in shade, especially tree shade. And most shade trees, says George M. Codding of the Bartlett Tree Experts, are casting excessive shade. The wet spring filled them with leaves.

Shade is fine. But too much of it from trees growing near houses darkens the interior. Mildews pop up on porch furniture and other places in this shade and the air takes on a musty odor. Mosses thrive and grasses thin out on densely shaded lawns.

All this can be corrected by prompt pruning. Let a little sunlight and air in. Prune back lower branches. Thin the crown. Open up a tree so air can easily pass through.

Elongated branches can easily be shortened. Limbs can be spaced wider.

Pruning is also a health measure. It eliminates excessive wood, dead and dying twigs and branches.

When pruning, begin from the top and work down. Be sure to keep the tree's natural symmetry.

Scarsdale Man Gets Health Council Post

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Gov. Harriman today appointed William H. Wisely of Scarsdale to the State Public Health Council.

Wisely is executive secretary of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

Harriman designated him to replace Thorndike Saville of New York City in a term running to Jan. 1, 1959. Saville, former dean of New York University, resigned from the council recently.

The post pays $1,710 a year.

The eight-member council advises the state health commission on public health policies.

In the present drive, the goal is to raise about $40,000 of $46,000 that was pledged but not collected in the previous campaign. The money will be used to make ready another industrial site.

Karl M. Kempf, the organization's secretary, reports that $1,735 has been collected to date. He says this is encouraging.

Amsterdam has a population of about 32,500. Of these, the state unemployment insurance office says, 2,775 were collecting regular unemployment benefits and 656 were receiving temporary unemployment compensation under the recent Federal-state program for extension of benefits, as of last Friday.

Unemployment here hit 3,000 in 1956.

Court Rules SPA In Error in Move Against Indians

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. Court of Appeals has decided that the State Power Authority picked the wrong law to condemn land of the Tuscarora Indians for the Niagara power project.

In a two to one decision Thursday, the court recommended that the authority seek prompt condemnation either through the federal district court in Buffalo or the New York State courts.

Moses Sees Right

The authority erred in its attempt to acquire the land via the New York Public Authorities Law of 1958, the New York Condemnation Law and Section 30 of the State Highway Law, the court held.

Robert Moses, power authority chairman, said the decision "affirms the power authority's right to acquire Tuscarora property by the exercise of powers of eminent domain. The decision clearly sets forth the procedure by which the property can be acquired."

He said the authority will "file the necessary papers to condemn pursuant to the decision of the court."

The court reinstated a complaint by the Indian nation against the authority and continued a stay barring the authority from clearing timber or buildings from the 4,329-acre reservation in Niagara County.

Says Reservoir Vital

Twenty-nine Tuscarora families live on the 1,343 acres of farmland that the authority wants for the power project reservoir.

In the 16-page court decision, Judge Leonard P. Moore called the proposed reservoir essential to the project. He added, however, that the Indians should not be deprived of their land without a judicial hearing. He requested the U.S. District Court to "expedite all proceedings."

The Indians had appealed from a decision by District Judge Justin C. Morgan in Buffalo, who had dismissed their complaint and lifted all restraints on the authority's activity on the property. The restraints were reinstated, however, by the Court of Appeals several weeks ago, pending Thursday's decision.

One Dissents

Moore's decision was concurred in by Judge Robert P. Anderson. Judge Thomas W. Swan dissented.

The federal government acquired the land for the Indians in 1804 from the Holland Land Co. The Indians argued that condemnation of a part of their reservation violated the United States code.

The authority has argued that the state possesses sovereign power of condemnation over Indian lands and that the U.S. Code does not apply. The authority has said this power was never surrendered to the federal government when New York became one of the original 13 states.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Strength in industrials pushed the stock market once again into new high ground for the year in active trading today. Leading issues rose fractions to about 2 points.

The market was higher from the start and the ticket tape fell behind for nine minutes.

American Motors, which topped the most-active list Thursday on news of its sharp boost in earnings, was the feature again today, advancing a point to a new high before trimming its gain.

Chemicals, steels, motors, rubbers, aircrafts, electronics and airlines rose. Utilities and rails were a bit ahead in average.

The overall news included a statement by Dr. Gabriel Haage, retiring economic aide to President Eisenhower, that the business recession has ended.

Chrysler kept major fractional gain following news that it had greatly reduced its first quarter loss and was paying another 25-cent dividend.

Du Pont and Goodrich were ahead about two apiece. Gains of more than a point were posted for Air Reduction and International Paper. Ahead about a point were Ford, Caterpillar, Douglas Aircraft, Smith-Kline-French and International Nickel.

American Telephone rose a fraction to a new '58 high then traded about unchanged.

Western Union hit a new high and was up a good fraction.

U.S. government bonds were steady to slightly higher.

FUND BILLS NEAR END

WASHINGTON (AP) — Except for some minor odds and ends and some compromises to be worked out with the Senate, the House today closed the book on appropriation bills for 1958.

Based on House action alone where final passage has not been completed, the prospect is for total appropriations of about 70 billion dollars for the year. But later Senate actions could raise that total substantially, especially for defense and foreign aid.

The 70 billion figure would represent a cut of about $1,600,000,000 from President Eisenhower's request for $71,539,831,339 in new money. Last year Congress cut nearly five billions from Eisenhower's requests.

Fewer Polio Cases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of polio cases this year is running less than half of last year's figure.

The Public Health Service said today 913 cases were reported by the states up to July 19 this year, while 1,979 were listed in the similar 1957 period.

Of this year's cases, 438 had been listed as paralytic compared with 780 up to this time a year ago.

"The books and records in our offices are always available to them if needed," Reisman said today.

Senator Tompkins today said, "Boyle is playing with fire. His strenuous efforts to resist appearance, as with many, indicates that his participation in this matter is more than mechanical or formal."

Explaining that the investigating commission wants him to "explain things which came through his hands" to clarify what has been divulged through inspection of the company records, it is the contention of the Tompkins investigations commission that they have never been able to talk to Boyle.

See 'Kickback' Link

It is the thought of the commission that certain checks drawn to cash and certain vouchers may relate to "kickbacks" to local officials and the investigators want to find out about them from the person who authorized their issuance.

Boyle, although secretary of the Lansell company, is not a stockholder. Boyle is head of a large firm of certified public accountants in Hackensack and it is reported the Lansell company is only one of the firm's clients. Boyle is president of the New Jersey Society of Certified Public Accountants.

INDICTED — Paul John (Frankie) Carbo, above, was indicted (July 24) on charges of conspiracy acting as an unlicensed matchmaker and acting as an undercover fight manager.

Highland Troopers Are Rural Area Protectors

By JACK CRAWFORD

Freeman Staff Writer

Public safety and protection in the rural areas is the business of the New York State Police which was organized in 1917 by Kingston's own Col. George F. Chandler, now living in retirement at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The public welfare may include anything from pleasure boating and cockfighting to arson and murder.

Spectator Arrests

As a matter of fact, last year the Highland state police arrested 30 men at a cockfight in the Plattekill area—most of them spectators!

This is one of the few cases in law in which spectators can be arrested, according to Sgt. E. E. Winkky, a big man with a quiet voice who has headed the station for the past couple of years. Winkky has been with the state police since 1937.

Opening a thick volume entitled Penal Law, he points to Section 182—Instigating Fights Between Animals:

"A person who sets on foot, instigates, promotes, or carries on, or does any act as assistant, umpire, or principal, or is a witness of, or in any way aids in or engages in the furtherance of any fight between cocks or other birds or dogs, bulls, bears, or any other animals..."

The phrase he wants to call attention to is that referring to a "witness."

Familiar With Law

Winkky laid out a dozen or so books and pamphlets on his desk, explaining that these are some of the laws and regulations with which troopers must have some familiarity. The following titles were noted: Approved Vehicle Equipment, Standard Building Codes for Places of Public Assembly, The Law in Relation to Billiard and Pocket Billiard Rooms, Rules of State Liquor Authority, Agriculture and Markets Law, Motor Vehicle Inspection Regulations, Rules and Regulations Governing Pleasure Boating, Truck Mileage, Tax Regulations.

Enforce Weight Law

Highland state police also enforce the law at New York State Weight Station No. 12 on Route 9W a short distance north of the barracks. They get from five to 10 calls from the station every couple of weeks reporting violations. Troopers are dispatched to investigate, perhaps to issue a summons.

The station also conducts periodic spot checks of truck weight, using a mobile Gledhill Scales which is transported from one trooper station to another.

Highland troopers—numbering 10 men, including Sgt. Linn Baker and Cpl. S. A. Chieco, both of Highland and both BCI officers (Bureau of Criminal Investigation) —handle hundreds of cases each year. Many of these are vehicular accidents but they also include a wide variety of other mishaps or crimes.

Accident Calls

For instance, only a few days ago the station investigated an accident in which a man had lost control of his car which plunged into a field, throwing him out. He lay in the wooded section for eight hours before he was observed by a passing motorist.

There was an explosion in the area recently in which a house was destroyed and a man killed.

Not long ago troopers were summoned to the scene of a double drowning in the New Paltz area. There was also a single drowning in the Hudson river some months ago, in which two fishermen lost their lives. Troopers spent long hours searching the river.

Sgt. Winkky explains that it is also the responsibility of troopers to inspect migrant labor camps, working with the State Labor Department and the Ulster County Health Department. They inspect as a team.

Chase Fugitive

There was also a case last year in which a fugitive shot it out with troopers, finally stopping his car near the Thieves Market and putting a bullet into his own brain.

They never know what's coming next and, hoping for the best, prepare for the worst.

The men work 12 hours a day—eight hours of patrol duty and four at the station. If married, they can live at home but must be available within 30 minutes in case of emergency.

Complete Case

However, if a "case comes up we stick with it until it's finished," Sgt. Winkky tells you.

He says the men are adjusting themselves very well to the new schedule, which is an improvement over the old one.

Trooper Charles Teelon, BCI, of the Kingston station, happened to be in Highland barracks when it was visited by this reporter. He was working on a case in which a man, accompanied by his wife and several small children, was driving around the state cashing fraudulent checks, for the most part in small amounts—about $20 each. The man keeps moving and by the time BCI gets a complaint, usually from a small merchant, he's gone. Another example of the diversified work of the state police.

Named Assistant 4-H Club Agent for Ulster

Miss Betty Wansink of Fernwood, Oswego County, has been named assistant county 4-H agent of Ulster County. She assumed her duties on July 1 and succeeds Miss Pat French, who resigned the position last September.

A graduate of Cornell University in June with a BS degree in Home Economics, Miss Wansink had been actively engaged in 4-H work in her home county prior to entering college.

At Cornell University she was a member of the Campus 4-H Club, a member of the Student Faculty Committee, Ag-Demo Council, College Vegetable Judging Team, and a member of the Baptist Student Council.

Since arriving in Ulster County and assuming her new duties, Miss Wansink has been in attendance for two weeks at the 4-H Club camp at New Paltz. Camp duties over for the season, she has now started 4-H activities toward the program which will be carried out at the 1958 Ulster County Fair which will be held at Forsyth Park Wednesday and Thursday, August 20 and 21.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Van Buren and sons, Roger and Ralph, of Buffalo, have returned home after spending a vacation with Mr. Van Buren's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Van Buren of 42 Henry Street.

The young of the shrimp pass through 10 larval stages.

Modeling Is Hard Work, No Glamour Says Top British Fashion Model Visiting Here

MISS JUDY HULL

A top fashion model who has appeared in shows for such outstanding designers as Dior and Ninni Ricci, is visiting in Kingston with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Koenig of 116 Andrew Street.

She is Miss Judy Hull, 22, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hull of Tip tree, England, a town 45 miles outside of London.

Avowing that the life of a model consists of hard work, Miss Hull said in a personal interview at The Freeman, "... no one should contemplate a modeling career unless they too wish to work-hard at it. There is no glamour in it."

Here on an immigration visa, Miss Hull plans to tour part of the United States with her sister, Rose, who is expected to arrive from London Saturday, Aug. 2. They plan to visit with friends in Yellow Springs, Ohio and Memphis, Tenn.

Having modeled for retail and wholesale houses, press shows and cocktail parties, Miss Hull said she was considering some modeling work either in New York City or Memphis during her stay in America.

Styles Here to Stay
Asked about the latest styles, particularly the "sky high" neckline and bosom recently displayed in the John Cavanagh fashion show in London, Miss Hull said in London, "they are definitely here to stay—at least in London."

Her vital statistics, for those interested, are 36, 24, 36 and she stands 5 feet 7 inches tall.

Any marriage plans—we received an emphatic "No!"

Modern Improvements Do Not Make Our Work Easier,' Says Sara Little, Career Girl

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Sara Little is a pint-size career girl who is all steamed up about the hard life of the American housewife.

Sara is an industrial designer who spent 15 years as an editor of a national home furnishings magazine.

"Builders, architects and appliance manufacturers are making suckers of American housewives," she says. "They get things all prettied up, so they will look good in color pictures, and forget about the poor woman who is going to have to live and work in their dream house."

"The classic example, of course, is the picture window that faces the street. For several years, every split-level ranch house in the country had to have a picture window, whether there was any picture to look at or not. People moved into the houses and put a lamp in the window to make it look pretty. Then they realized the whole world passing by could look in at the window, and privacy was just another word. So they hung curtains to cover the picture window, and there they were—right back where they started from."

"Then take kitchens. The American kitchen is supposed to be the world's peak achievement in modern convenience and beauty. Millions are spent every year on its research and design. So what do we get? Well, we get those cute separate ovens set into the wall, often half a room away from the rest of the cooking area. We get burners set in counter tops, and sometimes no space to set a mixing bowl."

Sara believes that the world's best home planner is the housewife herself, who knows how she wants her home arranged for ultimate comfort and ease.

RECEPTION AT BRIDE-GROOM'S HOUSE

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me if it would be correct to have a wedding reception at the bridegroom's house? We live in a small apartment which is not large enough to accommodate more than a handful of people. My fiance's family have a lovely house with a patio opening into the garden which is an ideal setting for a wedding. They are willing to let us have the reception there, but I would like to know what you think of this before saying "yes." My parents will, of course, pay all the expenses of the reception.

Answer: Under these circumstances to have the reception take place at the house of the groom's family is not unheard of, but it would be better if the reception were to be held in the house of some member of your family or of some friend or in a country club or hotel.

Givers vs. Non-Givers

Dear Mrs. Post: At a party to which only some of the guests have taken presents, isn't it polite to put them aside and open them later rather than to open them in the presence of those who brought none and thereby cause them embarrassment?

Answer: No, it is best to open the presents that are brought and thank the givers. To put the presents aside would not hide from the givers the fact that some of the guests brought presents, and it would be like throwing cold water on those who were so thoughtful.

It's Best to Consult Her

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter and her fiance have a problem they asked me to write you about. She thinks that she should help choose her engagement ring, and her fiance thinks that she should not. Will you please tell me which one is right?

Answer: Usually and also correctly the man has several rings within his means set aside and then he takes her to the jeweler and asks her which of these she prefers.

Is it good taste to use a printed card for acknowledging personal kindness? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. However, her leaflet E-21, "Model Notes," answers this question. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Necklines, Bosoms Go Higher and Higher; London Fashion Show Introduces 'Sky High'

By EDDY GILMORE
LONDON (AP) —

There was nothing subtle today about where London's master stylists have placed the new autumn season's emphasis in women's clothes. It's on the bosom and the waist.

If either was hiked any higher it'd be on milady's shoulders. Both are so far up that John Cavanagh even calls his sparkling collection "sky high."

There's a big difference, though, in the way bosoms and waists are treated. The waists are covered in favor of the high demarcation line between bodice and skirt.

Veneziani, whose collections received ovations Wednesday night, hinged her skirts about the level of the second rib.

Skirts are either short or long, with no middle ground between knee and floor.

Queen Elizabeth II's dressmaker, Norman Hartnell, has joined the high, high parade.

It remains to be seen, however, whether her pretty majesty, with one of the best figures in and out of royal circles, will raise her sights for the season.

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — How high is high? How far above the waist, how near the bosom?

That is being determined in the way bosoms and waists are treated. The waists are covered in favor of the high demarcation line between bodice and skirt.

With skirts above the knees, the legs look as if they start immediately under the bosom.

The new decolletage is so daring it's going to be hard to attract much attention to the waist.

But the bosses of haute couture have tried.

In addition to the high waists, there are diagonal waists, sloping round from a high center in the front to a low back. Or down from a spot just below the shoulder blades to the front.

Skirts are either short or long, with no middle ground between knee and floor.

The Mature Parent

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Honesty Is Best Policy — Even With Ourselves

At 13, Anne can always find some excuse for any behavior you object to.

If she leaves her bed unmade, it's not because she doesn't like making it but because she hadn't time. If she's late getting home from a friend's house, it's not because she wanted to see Pat Boone on the friend's big-screen TV set but because she lost her sweater. If she fails to get cream on her way home from school, it's not because she didn't want to be bothered by getting it but because the store had sold its last carton.

Understandably, her mother finds these excuses irritating. For by making clocks, lost sweaters and other external things responsible for what she does, Anne herself avoids any responsibility for what she does—and with it the obligation to do any better. Her excuses really say, "I want to do what I want."

The answer is to help Anne put this desire into honest words instead of into dishonest excuses.

We can't help her do it if we are excuse-makers ourselves.

If we're the parent of an excuse-maker, we must stop saying things like, "I bought this dress because it was marked down," "I didn't hem your skirt because Mrs. Jones dropped in," "I want to go to the mountains this summer because it will be so good for the children."

We have to start saying, "I bought this dress because I liked it," "I didn't hem your skirt because I didn't feel like it," "I want to go to the mountains because I enjoy a holiday."

When we can amiably accept ourself as a mother who didn't want to put in a hem, Anne will find the courage to reveal herself as a child who didn't want to get the cream. Until then, she may continue to present us with virtuous-sounding reasons for doing as she pleases.

When she's given the freedom to be honest about what she wants, she'll start at once to be interested in what we want. For we human beings love no one so much as those who allow us to be honest. It's those who won't permit it that we do not want to please.

Father Wagner Back From 5-Year Red Prison Term

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Rev. Cyril Wagner is back home today after a five-year imprisonment in Red China.

This was Mrs. Herbert Brooks' comment after her three grandchildren, William, 8; Rhonda, 7; and Michael 6, drowned Thursday in a pond near their home.

The children's mother, Mrs. William Brooks, told firemen that the children were wading when one of them apparently fell into deeper water, dragging the others down. She said they always held hands while wading.

It was all part of a gala midnight charity show, "The Night of a Hundred Stars," held at the London Palladium for the actors' orphanage fund.

The Olivier act might have been better if they hadn't rehearsed so energetically Thursday.

Sir Laurence strained a tendon. Vivien took a flying leap into the arms of Mills and gave out a scream that shook the theater-twisted knee.

Mills slipped off quietly and got his rib strapped up.

The show went on but 52-year-old Laurence confined himself to singing with canes for support.

Vivien and Mills bravely struggled through the soft shoe shuf-

WASHINGTON (AP)—The big battle over defense reorganization is over. Only President Eisenhower's signature is needed to put it in effect.

Congress completed action on the once controversial issue Thursday when both House and Senate quickly passed a compromise reorganization bill by voice vote.

Eisenhower is expected to give his quick approval. He said he is satisfied with the bill, which gives him most of the authority he sought to reorganize the nation's complex and sprawling defense forces and to streamline the chain of command.

During their visit, their son, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Bruno of Glasco, Mrs. Tiano and Mr. Bruno are brother and sister.

A family reunion arranged by nieces and nephews was held Wednesday night in the home of one of the nephews, Anthony Bruno Jr., of Glasco.

The visitors are returning to Canada today. They expect to settle in the United States eventually and plan to reside in Glasco.

Village Landmark Razing Underway

The Washburn Block, a village landmark at the corner of Market and Main Streets, Saugerties is being demolished this week by employees of Knaust Brothers, Inc.

The block now owned by Henry Knaust, formerly housed Hommell's Drug Store, Beadle's Pharmacy and Misasi's Food Market.

A small frame building on the rear section of the property along Main Street, formerly occupied by Harold Kamp Insurance Agency was torn down and leveled earlier this week.

Despite reports that the land is being leveled off to be used as a parking lot, Henry Knaust told The Freeman that he had no immediate plans for the block.

Adopts 81 More

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Harry Holt's baby was pushed toward the thousand mark today as the grizzled Oregon farmer left Seoul with 81 orphans for adoption in the United States.

Aboard the chartered Korean National Airlines plane were 27 boys and 54 girls, shepherded by Holt, his daughter Molly and several nurses. Most of the children were less than 3 years old.

Holt and his wife raised six children of their own on their ranch at Creswell, Ore., before he began finding American couples to adopt Korean War orphans in 1955. Eight of the orphans on his first plane load were adopted by Holt himself.

Gas in City Water Lines Causes Six Belleville Blasts

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Liquefied gas seepage into water mains produced six explosions Thursday and kept residents in a state of jitters throughout the night.

Harried city officials haven't traced the source of the butane gas.

About 2,500 residents were ordered from their homes for a 6½-hour period after the blasts, in which four persons suffered burns. None were in serious condition.

There was no mass exodus from this city of 45,000, twelve miles southeast of St. Louis. Homes in a 50-block area were evacuated, but most residents milled about on their front lawns and in the streets until the all-clear.

Worst damage was to a home of a family of six. The family was away when a blast knocked out one brick wall and shattered windows.

Fires which followed some of the blasts were extinguished quickly.

Crippled Hiker Tries Holding Up Woman in Auto

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Lena Ernst was driving along Rockaway Parkway in Brooklyn Thursday when she saw a man in a wheelchair thumbing a ride.

She was wary of hitchhikers, but she decided she couldn't pass this one by. So she stopped. A bystander helped the man and his wheelchair into the back seat, and she drove on.

Suddenly a gun was poked against her neck and the crippled man said: "Give me your dough and you won't get hurt."

Mrs. Ernst, 38, spotted a police patrol car as she slowed for a red light.

"Help!" she screamed. "There's a cripple with a gun in the back of my car."

Two patrolmen rushed over to the car. The man was identified as Stanley Emanuel, 36. The gun was a toy cap pistol.

He was taken to the prison ward of Kings County Hospital on a charge of attempted robbery.

"Please don't tell my mother," Emanuel begged the police.

Police said he is paralyzed from the waist down by injuries received in an auto accident in 1946.

Woodstock's Library Fair Is Gala Summer Festival

The 31st annual Woodstock Library Fair, a spectacular mid-summer festival that attracts thousands of visitors yearly from all over the state, will be held on the grounds of the 125-year-old Library on Thursday, July 31, from noon to 6 p.m.

Past performances prove that the fair, in its half-day stand, has played to standing-room-only audiences and always rings down the curtain with a box office gross totalling thousands of dollars.

This yearly onslaught of bar-gain-hungry and fun-seeking humanity on the famed Catskill art colony is presumed to come chiefly by word of mouth. Those who have attended fairs in the way for children is included on the agenda, with games in all categories, a fish pond and duck house, and a clever make-up table, from which younger Fairgoers will emerge painted, as clowns, pirates, señoritas, and princesses, and sporting the appropriate headgear for each character.

Other attractions will include the work of name artists, such as the portraits in pastel made for nominal fees by an artist who specializes in children's portraits, and a limited edition of hand-screened scrolls by six world-known artists, all residents of Woodstock. There will be folk songs, ballads, and dancing, a puppet show, a hobby table whose beautiful and useful objects were made by Woodstock's Senior Citizens' Club, and something novel in the way of all hand-carved, miniature horses. Continuous music will be offered by live musicians who will fill the air on Fair Day, and a special event will be the awarding of the "Great Expectations" feature of a $1,000 and a $500 United States Savings Bond. All this and more will be barked by that grand Master-of-Ceremonies Houston Richards, Broadway star and resident of — that's right, Woodstock!

A "flea market" of odds and ends attracts the do-it-yourselfers and fix-it types. A special mid-10x14 limited edition print by Ethel Magafan and all accompanying privileges.

In past years, the sustaining membership prints have been done by such illustrious painters as Kuniyoshi, Chavez, Arnold Blanch and Fletcher Martin. All are handsome additions to a collection, or could be the nucleus of one just being started.

Well Known Artist

This year's print is by the well-known American artist, Ethel Magafan, who is represented in the collection of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Denver Art Museum and shown at the Rudolph Galleries in New York. Among her awards are a $1500 prize at the National Academy in New York, the Hallmark Award and a Fulbright Grant.

The Artists Association looks forward to welcoming all its friends to the opening. The new ones will have an opportunity to see exciting new works by some of Woodstock's outstanding painters and sculptors and possibly win the membership—and the old friends, who have long been a part of the association, one of the oldest of its kind in Woodstock.

Other nominations include:

Robert Owen, vice-president;

Mrs. Lillian McVitty, treasurer; and Mrs. L. Brokenshaw, secretary.

Nominated for the Board of Directors were:

Mrs. L. Hucker, Mrs. De Candia, Emil Pekoe,

Mrs. Asta Juell, Mrs. Mildred Bollenbach, George Hucker and William Mann.

An invitation was extended to all taxpayers in the Woodstock township to join the association.

The Rev. and Mrs. Clarence Murray and family have returned from West Chazy, N.Y., where they attended the 116th session of the Champlain Conference of the Wesleyan Methodist Church of Youth Camp and Camp Meetings.

The Rev. Murray was returned as pastor of the Willow and Acorn Hill (Olive Bridge) churches, which he has served for the past three years. The annual conference re-elected the Rev. Murray to the office of Secretary of The Superannuated Ministers' Association which office he has held for 12 years.

He was also elected District Leader of the Southern District of the Champlain Conference, which includes all Wesleyan Methodist churches in the capital district, south to the New Jersey line and part of the New England states.

Sussin Stars In Relief Role Against Jaycees

Bob Smith, Dan Ryan Hit HRs in 9-3 Victory

They've been up there too long to say it's a mirage and George Knute Beichert, the long-suffering Frisco Giant rooter, says the fugitives from the Polo Grounds are going all the way, a sentiment not universally shared by the baseball world.

The crowd was excellent for the Kingston Jaycees-Town of Hurley Little League district elimination contest Wednesday evening at the Woodstock field. There were sizeable delegations from the Jaycee area and township of Hurley. Presumably, this was the case everywhere in the county, a fact that isn't lost on the kiddies. The American-Esopus thriller at Kingman Park also had a full complement of roosters. But the correspondent is wary about future saturation of the ball park's facilities. He said briefly: "Please make a note that the Little Leaguers would appreciate the continued support of parents, friends and all baseball enthusiasts."

Donald T. Haggerty, son of Martin F. Haggerty of 217 Ten Broeck Avenue, Kingston, was the captain of the winning softball team of Chi Gamma Iota fraternity at Bryant College, Providence, R. I. He recently received his award.

Sam Anzalone, formerly of our sports staff, is doing a terrific job at Monticello Raceway handicapper for the Middletown Record. Many of the local fraternity are finding Monticello a happy rendezvous because of Sam's expert touting.

Sports Editor Ed Gleed of Middletown Record became a papa for the first time last week. He held up nobly under the strain, it is reported.

George Palmateer, Poughkeepsie sports ed. who doesn't normally get too excited about birdies and bogies, is excited about the forthcoming Mid-Hudson Open golf tournament (Aug. 2-3) at IBM Country Club. Says it will be the greatest golf tournament ever held in the mid-Hudson district.

Walter S. Van Waggonen, the Woodstock school principal, and David McMeekin, the Wiltwyck Country Club pro, joined Tony de Lisi in the spectacular gallery at Cooperstown for the N. Y. State Women's Amateur. McMeekin was there rooting for Barbara Bruning McGhee, three-time champion, and perhaps his all-time pupil. Barbara got her first golf lesson from McMeekin at Whippoorwill in Westchester County and frequently visits Wiltwyck to touch up some phase of her game.

Life's Dark Moment: A recent Little League action photo caption identified Tom Payne and Bobby Churchill as principals of the action. Alas, it was Bill Beutel and Paul Gruner of the Hurley League.

Quick now, can you name the champions in the eight major boxing divisions? Okay, here they are: heavyweight, Floyd Patterson; light heavyweight, Archie Moore; middleweight, Ray Robinson; welterweight, Virgil Akins; light-middleweight, Joe Brown; featherweight, Hogan Kid Bassey, Nigeria; bantamweight, Alphonse Halimi, France; flyweight, Pascual Perez, Argentina. Paste the names in your hat. You can win a lot of bets with them.

Rose Schatzel would like to hear from all area women bowlers interested in competing in a Class A classic league next fall. All bowlers with averages of 148 or better are eligible and invited. Entries may also be made on a team basis. Persons interested should contact Mrs. Schatzel at the Bowlerium.

Horse Sense: What keeps horses from betting on people.

It is true that Fred Davi, irked by the Kingston Yankees' .186 team batting average and current undistinguished standing in the NY-NJ League, blew his top if the Yankees don't beat the Jersey City Cardinals Saturday night at Dietz Stadium?

Fluke Keeps Billows Alive in State Golf

UTICA, N. Y. (AP) — Attention turned to the youngsters in the state men's amateur golf tournament today as 32 survivors got set for two rounds in hot, muggy weather.

John Konsek, John Snyder and James Iverson were among the newcomers likely to survive the day's grueling match play at Yahnundas Golf Club.

The 6,450-yard course is being lengthened each round as the tournament progresses. By tonight it may seem endless to some old-timers.

Konsek, 18, of Buffalo, a pre-med student at Purdue who was Big Ten champion and finalist in the recent NCAA tournament, disposed of Manuel Doppel of Rye, 4 and 3, in Thursday's second round.

Snyder, 25, of Troy, trounced Pearce Billings of Syracuse, 5 and 3.

Iverson, of Bronxville, one of the leading young golfers of the New York metropolitan area, beat Dr. Walter Kynch Jr., of Sidney, 2 up. Then he played in, finishing with a 2-under-par 68, best medal score of the tournament.

A Bit of Luck

Several veterans still were in the running, too. Seven-time winner Ray Billows had an assist from Lady Luck when he beat Joe Biasone of Syracuse, 2 and 1. Tied at the 15th hole, both Billows and Biasone drove into a creek but Billows' ball hit a stone in the water and bounced onto the fairway. Biasone, former owner of the Syracuse Nats, basket ball team, never recovered.

John Ward of Syracuse, often a runnup but never a champion,

Bob Maines Faces Jersey City Ace in Yankee Game Saturday

Kingston Yankees expect to send Bob Maines, their ace left-hander, against the Jersey City Colored Cardinals in a New York-New Jersey League contest Saturday night at Dietz Stadium.

Maines is currently the No. 2 pitcher in the interstate circuit with a phenomenal 0.82 earned run average for 23 innings. He has permitted only six hits and four runs in that stretch, while striking out 28 and walking 14.

The Cardinals are expected to counter with Hank Edwards, who boasts a 1.12 ERA and has yielded only seven hits in 16 innings. He has struck out 23.

Kingston also has a date with the Staatsburg Knickerbockers next Wednesday night and plays Saugerties Dutchmen on Aug. 9.

Curtis Golfers High in Tourney

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

U. S. Curtis Cup team members and a 31-year-old mother of two tykes were grouped for semifinal action today in the Women's Western Amateur golf tournament.

The 18-hole round sends two Curtis Cuppers together, medalist Anne Quast of Everett, Wash., and Anne Richardson of Columbus, Ohio; and places the third squad member, Barbara McIntire of Jupiter, Fla., against Mrs. Paul Dye Jr., of Indianapolis.

In Thursday's quarterfinals, Miss Quast rolled in putts of 20, 15 and 22 feet for birdie wins in the clutch to outlast Clifford Ann Creed, Opelousas, La., 2 and 1.

Miss Richardson watched Mrs. William Hartson of Oakland, Calif., hook and slice her way to a 5 and 4 licking.

Miss McIntire cashed in on the mistakes of Betty Kerby, Akron, Ohio, to win the 14th, 15th and 16th holes in par and gain a 2 and 1 decision.

Mrs. Dye, mother of two boys, 6 and 3 years of age, topped off her 2 and 1 victory over 17-year-old Sherry Wheeler of Glasgow, Ky., by planting a driver shot three feet from the cup on the 199-yard 17th hole for a deuce.

Nadlers Nip Ber-Vans, 2-1, on Houghtaling's Relief Stint

Retires Side in Seventh Inning To Save Victory

A strong relief stint by Jack Houghtaling preserved a 2-1 Nadler Motors victory over Ber-Vans in the City Baseball League last night at Dietz Stadium.

Houghtaling relieved Bob McNamara with the score 2-1 and winning runs on the bases in the bottom of the seventh. He got one batter to fly out then fanned the next two to close out the game.

McNamara had pitched a strong game before he ran into seventh-inning trouble. He had yielded only two hits, struck out six and walked three.

Paul Gardner and Bob Beadle permitted seven hits between them, the former giving up only one hit in a scoreless three-inning stint. Beadle went the last four innings and was nicked for the two Nadler tallies.

Bob Bondar cracked three singles in the cleanup spot for the Motormen. The only extra base blow was John Parete's triple for Ber-Vans in the seventh.

Yankee Relief Ace in Hospital After Incident

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ryne Duren, the New York Yankees' ace reliever, finally has been plunked.

A pitch by Paul Foytack felled the controversial rookie, frequently accused of throwing at batters, in the Yanks' 10-7 victory at Detroit Thursday. He apparently wasn't seriously injured—just a bruised and cut left cheek—but he'll stay in a hospital for several days for observation.

Duren's mates call him Mr. Magoo. Casey Stengel calls him "my blind man."

The rest of the American League takes the big right-hander with the thick specs less humorous things. They say he zeroes in before rifling his high and inside stuff. Duren denies he deliberately throws at anyone. He's hit two.

The Yankees, blanked for six innings on one hit by Jim (No-Hit) Bunning, left Detroit with a 13-1 lead. Duren had worked two innings of perfect relief, dunking slugger Al Kaline with his first pitch.

The Weather

FRIDAY, JULY 25, 1958
Sun rises at 4:41 a. m.; sun sets at 7:23 p. m., EST.
Weather: Mostly fair.

The Temperature

The lowest temperature recorded on The Freeman thermometer during the night was 65 degrees. The highest figure recorded up to noon today was 83 degrees.

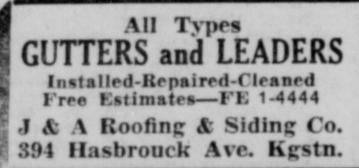

Weather Forecast

JUST FAIR

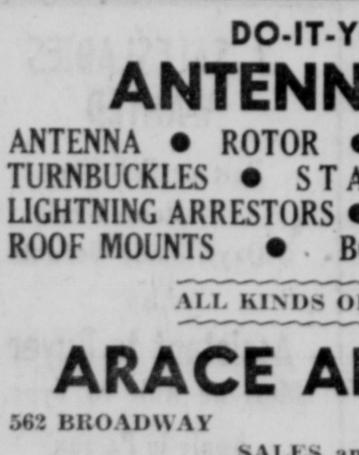

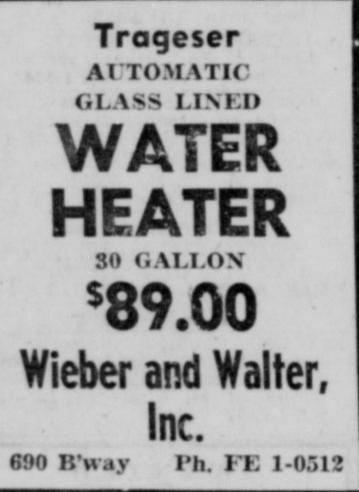

Southeastern New York — Warm and humid with considerable sunshine this afternoon. High well into 80s. Showers and scattered thundershowers developing tonight and continuing Saturday, followed by clearing, cooler and less humid by Saturday night. Low tonight in 60s. High Saturday 80-85. Winds becoming southerly 10-20 tonight and turning to westerly late Saturday. Stronger and gusty winds are likely near thunderstorms.

Teachers Are Twins

BEDFORD, Pa. (AP) — Come September pupils at Bedford High School may have difficulty deciding whether they're in the right sociology class. Twin brothers, John and James Forsha of Johnstown, Pa., have been engaged to teach the subject next semester.

Warming Trend Is Due by Tuesday

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The extended forecasts for New York State, prepared by the U. S. Weather Bureau, for the period from 7 p. m. today through 7 p. m. Wednesday:

Eastern New York — Temperatures will average around or just under seasonal levels. Cooler weather with lower humidity will develop over the weekend. Warming trend by Tuesday. Showers ending Saturday. Next shower period beginning about Tuesday. Total rainfall around one-half inch or more.

Western New York — Cooler, changeable weather is indicated. Temperatures averaging several degrees below normal. Turning cooler Saturday, with only minor temperature change thereafter. Total precipitation averaging one-quarter to three-quarters of an inch, occurring as showers or thundershowers tonight and early Saturday, again Monday or early Tuesday.

Temperature Normals — Early morning lows 58-65. Afternoon highs 78-85.

Would Give Ike More

WASHINGTON (AP) — If the Senate Appropriations Committee has its way, President Eisenhower will receive $1,200,000,000 more in defense money than he requested for the year that began July 1.

The committee Thursday approved a measure to provide $40,000,000 for Defense Department operations. This sum not only gives Eisenhower more than he sought, but tops by $1,600,000,000 the amount authorized in a House bill passed last month.

Mishaps Follow Him

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Jazz musician Charlie Ventura wonders if he's becoming accident prone. Last Saturday he broke a toe in a home accident. While mounting the stage at the Sans Souci Hotel Thursday the 40-year-old saxophonist fell and broke five ribs. He'll be offstage three to four weeks.
